PERSONAL COMMENT:
It is difficult to appreciate the individual effort that contributes to the work of the MSMS Board of Directors until one has the opportunity to observe and then contribute to it. It has become quickly one of the important roles I serve as a physician and has solidified my evolving understanding of the importance of organized medicine in both today and in tomorrow's world of health care. I feel that I bring to this important task a sound understanding of the needs of the members in my district through my interaction with them and the healthy exchange of ideas that occurs. In addition, the work that I do in my specialty societies on a national level affords many chances to compare this state society's forward thinking approach to others and I am gratified to see how we continue to compare favorably. Should I be so fortunate as to continue in this role, my goal is to incorporate my understanding of the Future of Medicine document and its tenets in the shaping of major board initiatives going forward. I look forward to that challenge.
