Society Presidents Rewriting the Rules on Physician Leadership

Michigan's leading physician and health care organizations have been around for a combined 331 years, but dynamic physician leadership has never been more important.

With health care delivery changing at a breakneck speed, helping policymakers in Lansing and across the state keep pace is no small task, but it's a responsibility that's resting on exciting new shoulders.

Doctors Rose Ramirez, Myral Robbins, and Tina Tanner have distinguished themselves as physician leaders in patient rooms and board rooms across Michigan, and in 2015, each are able to include a new line on their long list of accomplishment; being the top doctors at statewide associations representing more than 26,000 physicians and the hundreds of thousands of patients they treat annually.

Protecting Patients. Protecting Physicians.

Legislation to negatively alter Michigan's leading auto no-fault is currently being considered in the legislature. If these proposed changes are enacted, both you as a physician and the patients you see, could be adversely affected. We need your financial support to make sure this does not happen.

Please join your colleagues in the fight, and support the political arm of your Michigan State Medical Society, the Michigan Doctors' Political Action Committee (MDPAC).

Physician involvement is essential to keeping medicine a priority in Michigan. Do your part by donating to MDPAC by visiting MDPAC.org today. By giving, either as an individual or a practice, will ensure your voice is being heard.
